works to the public free of charge. Q: How to configure Hyper-v guest to be able to access network shared folders? I have installed Hyper-v 4.0 on windows server 2012, and I have a shared folder on the network. I am able to access it with a guest's windows, but not with a linux guest. Any suggestions? A: try to add the guest's IP on the virtual network of the hyper-v host. That will make the guest able to talk to the other guest.

/edit and you can also connect to the virtual network by the host.

When you connect, you will be able to browse the host's files by default (there is a win+space bar key to invoke the map mode)

/edit The iPlayer has been available for a couple of months on PS3, Xbox 360 and the Wii, but availability on the Nokia Internet Player is just now
