using this. OPTIONAL: While installing this package you need to also Install at0-configuration-example(at0cfg) package on your server. ------ puredemo This depends heavily on the distro you're using, but if you have ssh access to your host, you can install openssh-server and use it as a simple ftp server, with a login page or something (looking for a config sample). The openssh-server package is installed by default with almost all distros, whereas the ftpd package is usually not, and is only installed if you want to install an ftpd server. ~~~ Vendan I'm a huge fan of vsftpd - and it works fine with my script I wrote. ------ LAMike I used Pi-Hole as a reverse proxy as well. I run it on my raspberry pi wirelessly as a hotspot to the internet with the following script: [

Tissue sections from 10 dogs with histiocytic proliferative rhinitis (HPR) were ultrastructurally examined, using ferritin labeling and immunocytochemical techniques. HPR was characterized by an accumulation of cells of the monocyte-macrophage lineage in the subepithelial and submucosal layers of the nasal septum and turbinates. Many of these cells exhibited characteristics of macrophage polarization, but their overall morphologic and antigenic phenotypes were uncertain. Ferritin labeling revealed that large and small cells within and near the lesional areas had significant cytoplasmic staining at ferritin concentrations of 5-20 micrograms/ml. Some histiocytic cells in the affected mucosae contained large ferritin-labeled bodies in their cytoplasm and giant phagosomes within the cytoplasm. Histiocytes were occasionally seen in the region of bronchioles, blood vessels, and the connective tissue stroma. Immunocytochemistry confirmed the histiocytic nature of the cells and revealed that these cells were not phagocytically active. The most important finding of this study was the identification of canine herpesvirus (CHV) and adenovirus-1 (Adeno-1) antigens in some lesional cells. aa67ecbc25
