For Download.Q: Knockoutjs: $.map is not a function I just started using knockoutjs.
Currently I am trying to get to know it. In a ko foreach binding, I am trying to call another viewmodel's function

with its parameters. But getting `$.map()` is not a function error. Here is my view model.

self.checkContents =
function(data) { var
checkConten = $.map(data,
function(data) {return
data.parent_id});
console.log(checkConten); con
sole.log(self.checkContents.cal l(self, checkConten));
self.parentDetails(); } And here is the html code. If I use the called function to access a property of the parentviewmodel, it works

fine. But, When I try to access the parent_id value, I get this $.map() is not a function error.

Am I using this function incorrectly? A: You have to use subscribe instead of call:

self.checkContents =
function(data) { var
checkConten = $.map(data,
function(data) { return
data.parent_id; });
console.log(checkConten); con
sole.log(self.checkContents.su bscribe(self, checkConten));
self.parentDetails(); } Q:
'Where' clause reference error

in Access I have read many questions about this error, and I think my SQL syntax is correct; however, I still get this error when I run the code: Runtime error '4091': The WHERE clause is referencing a field that does not exist in this expression. The code was working fine without the "WHERE" clause, but it's been retested several times and I've used different criteria, with no avail. The query should find a set of account
