On a clarinet, serial numbers are located on the back of the instrument's body, on either side of the socket rings where the top hinge meets the bottom. The label may be located either on the underside of the body or at the junction of the body with the mouthpiece. On basses, the serial numbers are usually found on the front of the body shell or where the body joins the mouthpiece. On keyboard instruments, the serial number is usually stamped on the back of the instrument's body. Digital pianos typically have serial numbers and part number stickers on the top of the instrument's body. Most professional clans
